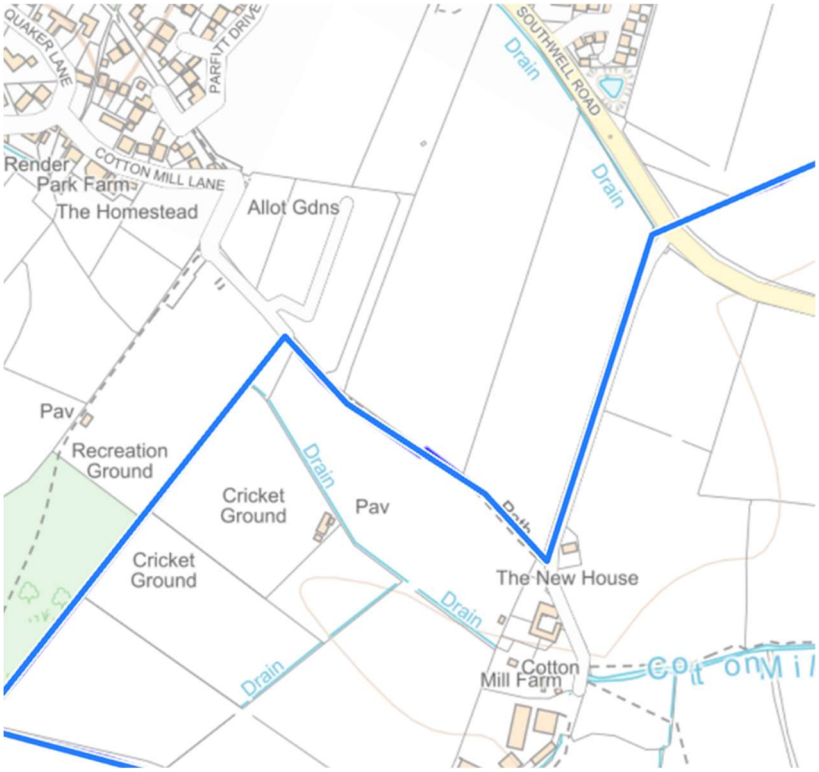
Cotton Mill Lane

Cotton Mill Lane is a bridleway and footpath that stretches from Quaker Lane to Cotton Mill Farm just over the boundary of Edingley Parish. Between 1829 and 1834 there was a cotton mill on the site of the farm, which is close to the bend on the Southwell Road.

This is the point on the road where tolls were collected in the 18th and 19th century for the upkeep of the road from Southwell to Mansfield.

View of Cotton Mill Lane from Quaker Lane



Cotton Mill Lane bridleway and footpath.

The parish boundary, marked in blue, follows the footpath between the fields leading down towards Cotton Mill Farm.

The point where the parish boundary crosses Southwell Road is where the toll bar was.