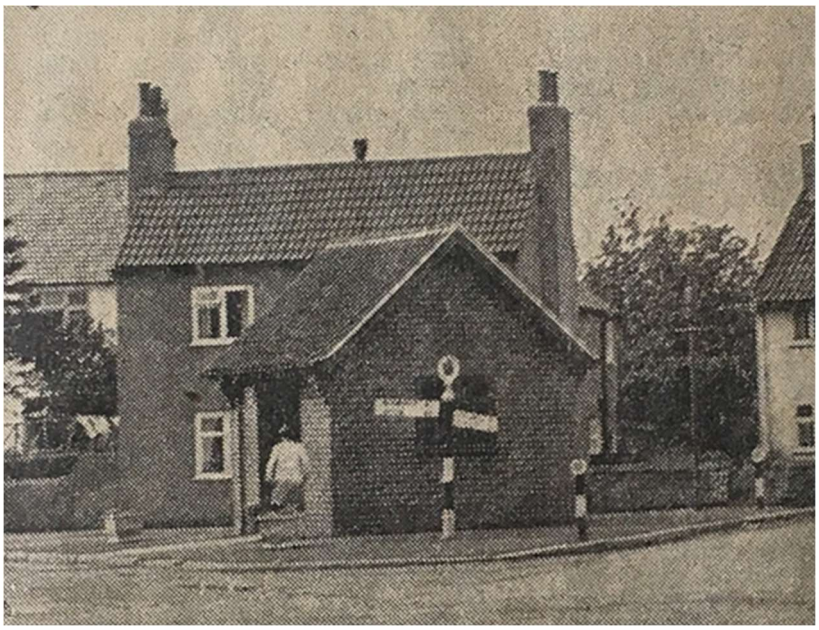
The Green

The village maypole was erected on The Green from 1850. Saddler's Cottage at the bottom of Blidworth Road, was a collar and harness maker's workshop for many years. The large shop window is still a feature, as is the ring on the outside wall for tying up the horse.

Dated around 1906. The village maypole is still in place.


August 1964 and the tree has been replaced by a bus shelter. Also used as a ‘hang out’ for local youngsters and courting couples, the shelter was witness to at least one marriage proposal we are told!
